

Metro TeenAIDS HIV Prevention Capacity Building Symposium 2010

August 11–12, 2010

Marvin Center at
George Washington University

Metro TeenAIDS HIV Prevention Capacity Building Symposium 2010

August 11–12, 2010, 8:30 am–4:30 pm

Marvin Center at George Washington University
800 21st Street, NW, Washington, DC 20052

METRO: Foggy Bottom/GWU (Orange/Blue Lines)

No Registration Fee / Breakfast Buffet Included

The HIV Prevention Capacity Building Symposium is a professional development opportunity for individuals who work with youth (ages 13–24). The symposium will feature speakers, roundtables and workshops centered on sexual, reproductive and wellness health issues facing youth in metropolitan D.C. Community-based organizations that are interested in learning how to enhance their youth programs are encouraged to attend. The symposium is FREE.

To register visit: www.surveymonkey.com/s/MTAsymposium2010

Check out CapacityTalk.Blogspot.com for the latest on the symposium, and information about youth development and adolescent health.

For more information, contact Isaiah Webster III at 202.543.0094, or email: iwebster@metroteenaid.org